Americans in North Russia Take Towns

Give Effective Aid in Allied Drive Up the Dwina River

Drive Bolsheviki Through Forests

Red Troops Are Fleeing to Kotlas, 325 Miles From Archangel

ARCHANGEL, Sept. 24 (By The Associated Press).—American troops, who are now taking part in the operations in virtually all sectors on the Northern Russian front, have captured several villages in recent fighting.

The net result of the fighting, in which the Americans cooperated with the British and Russians in the taking of many more places in the last ten days along the Dwina, is an advance of more than fifty miles.

The Bolsheviki are fleeing to Kotlas and the Allies are continuing the pursuit.

British and Russian airplanes are continually observing and bombing the Bolsheviki.

These operations, which are still in progress, besides scoring a fifty-mile advance, have been accompanied by the sinking of at least four enemy ships, the capture of several guns, many machine guns and much war material. A few prisoners also have been picked up, to the number of nearly 100.

Bolsheviki Sow Mines

The enemy ships, retiring hastily toward Kotlas, sowed mines as they went back, and the Allied progress has been impeded by the necessity of mine sweeping. The casualties of the Allied forces have been very small.

The operation began on the morning of September 14, when a party of Russian, British and American forces left Nijni-Kitsa, working down the left bank. Zudhor and Shidpova were occupied that evening. On the same day the Allied monitor surprised the enemy ship Mouchouga in a fog. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy, and some prisoners were taken. The monitor continued on and landed a party at Chamova. This party, however, was forced back by hostile artillery fire, the Allied ships being compelled to withdraw again to the mouth of the Vaga.

On the morning of September 15 the British and Russians succeeded in reaching Chamova. There three guns, several limbers and other paraphernalia were captured. In the afternoon the Americans and British took Navolok, capturing a few prisoners. The enemy scattered in the forest.

Soviet Warship Is Sunk

On September 16 a monitor succeeded in getting a hit on an enemy ship which had been bombarding the Allied troops. The ammunition on board the ship blew up, destroying the vessel. The enemy, retiring across an island here, was caught by our shell fire and additional prisoners were taken, including two officers. There is an unconfirmed report that the big enemy gunboat Bogatyr was sunk by striking a Bolshevik mine. Near Chamova an enemy mine was destroyed by the Allied forces.

On September 17 the Americans occupied Shouzhouga and Tulgolsk (Tulgolsk is 110 miles northeast of Kotlas). The advance was continued, and on the 21st Seltzo was attacked and captured by Russian and American forces. The enemy casualties, although undoubtedly large, cannot be accurately estimated because most of the fighting has been in the forests.

While this fighting was going on another column of Russian and Allied forces was advancing on the right bank of the Dwina.

On the morning of September 15 they occupied Priluki and captured a machine gun. The enemy losses in killed were considerable.

Red Casualties Are Heavy

On the afternoon of the 19th this column occupied Pless, causing the enemy heavy casualties. On the 21st, still advancing on the right bank, the patrols were in the neighborhood of Treika.

The movement on the right bank was impeded by boggy terrain. The guns were eventually brought up by barges.

Kotlas is on the River Dwina, a distance of 325 miles inland from Archangel in a southeasterly direction.

Russian Factions In Siberia Seek to Adjust Differences

VLADIVOSTOK (Thursday), Sept. 19. (By The Associated Press).—Conferees are taking place here looking to the amalgamation of the Omsk and Horvath governments on some basis which would tend to strengthen the Omsk group. Military and diplomatic delegates of the various Russian elements and Allied representatives are taking part in the discussions.

Premier Vologzsky, of the Omsk element, arrived here several days ago, and is living in a private car near the railroad station. General Horvath occupies another private car, about a half mile away from the Omsk representative.

Prince Lvoff, Premier of the first Russian provisional government, has arrived here, and has conferred with Roland S. Morris, American Ambassador to Japan, before departing for Japan and America, with plenipotentiary powers from the Omsk government.

The Czech-Slovak troops appear to be holding their own along the Volga-

Ural line, with intervals of brisk fighting. In the region north of Vladivostok there has been no fighting activity.

Big Advance Made By Japanese Troops In Siberian Campaign

LONDON, Sept. 28. (By The Associated Press).—In Eastern Siberia Japanese mounted troops, marching eastward from Chita and northward from Blagovestchensk, have effected a junction at Rukolov, 306 miles northwest of Blagovestchensk, according to a Japanese official statement received here. North of Blagovestchensk the Japanese have occupied Zeyapristan, on the River Zeya. The statement reads:

"On September 22 Japanese mounted forces converging along the Amur Railway from Blagovestchensk and Chita effected a junction at Rukolov, or Never, 306 miles northwest of Blagovestchensk, after overcoming the resistance of the enemy. On the 23d Japanese cavalry occupied Zeyapristan, on the River Zeya, 240 miles north of Blagovestchensk."

Russian Expedition Is Under Command Of British Officer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. (By The Associated Press).—General March announced to-day that the Allied and American forces operating south of Archangel have been placed under command of General Poole, of the British army. The American units are commanded by Colonel Stewart.

Ambassador Francis is at Archangel.

and General March said the War Department now is in close touch with military and diplomatic officials there.

Pigeons Carry News From Fighting Units

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Friday, Sept. 27 (By The Associated Press).—Carrier pigeons have proved themselves of inestimable value in the present offensive by supplanting telephone and telegraph wires, connecting the advanced posts with the bases at the rear. The birds have been used freely and have repeatedly flown from outposts to the divisional or corps headquarters with messages of vital importance, such as calls for a barrage, fire, news of unexpected difficulties or word of an advance.

The birds were carefully trained and tested before the beginning of the offensive. They were fed especially well at the base stations and underfed and neglected at the front, so that they would return to the bases gladly when released.

Part of the pigeons are from the French army and part from the American. Some birds were taken over by mistake from the French and it was believed they had had too little training to permit them to travel more than five miles. They were released from the front line with important messages for a point twelve miles away. Despite their youth and inexperience the pigeons all succeeded in reaching their stations.

By means of the pigeons generally has come the first news of the capture of towns and important positions.
